CONTENT <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 100% Full-Text Articles • 75⁺ Full-Run Periodicals for Early Researchers • 5 Full-Run Newspapers • 18,000 Radio & TV Program Transcripts • 30⁺ Reference Desk Offerings • 11,000⁺ Multimedia Audio & Video Files • 2,600,000⁺ Images & Illustrations • 4000⁺ Topographical, Interactive, Historical & Political Maps • 30,000⁺ Screened Educational Weblinks • 250⁺ Growing e-book collection, including: DK Eyewitness books & Weekly Reader series FEATURES <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Lexiles & Reading Levels • Customizable BookCarts & QuizCarts • E-mail Functions • Highlight and Look-Up Functionality • Monthly Activities, Projects & Lesson Plans • Free Online Training 	eLibrary Elementary is the ultimate elementary full-text resource, tailored to varied media types and offering diverse search functionality. An easy-to-use general reference solution, it's designed to engage and guide young learners and struggling students, and reinforce learning and achievement while ensuring age-appropriate and reliable information for their research and homework. Access to historical and current multimedia content engages students, enriches textual content, and provides enhanced visual and media literacy. Plus, BookCart functionality allows educators to create and integrate customized, relevant content and resources directly into lesson planning, instruction, and assignments.   eLibrary vs. Aggregators – eLibrary Elementary includes only 100% full-text content from varied reputable sources, and excludes futile and inappropriate reviews, TV schedules, and photo captions. With many products geared for the beginning learner, this is exactly the content that appears first, especially at the lower Lexile reading levels. eLibrary's Lexiles and reading levels correctly match text and content complexity, making it easy for early visual learners and struggling readers to find high-interest content at just their reading level. eLibrary vs. Encyclopedias – Unlike Encyclopedias, which are designed as a jumping-off point for further study, eLibrary Elementary offers a more complete, comprehensive research solution – providing features and content from different media types, and designed to support the entire research process and prepare the student for future academic success. Students learn to search in a range of search options, research in a guided environment, analyze content, and form their own ideas – not just recite commonly reported details. In addition to full-text article content from such magazines as Boys' Life, Highlights for Children, and Scholastic, and a collection of more than 250 books from acclaimed publishers including Weekly Reader, early learners can explore a Dictionary, Thesaurus, 11 Encyclopedias, 4 Almanacs, and 16 Atlases!

Questions to Ask Before Investing:

Teacher	Is it important that students have access to varied media types?
Principal	Does preparing students to think critically enhance their future chances at academic success?
Ed Technology	Are you comfortable with a resource that doesn't provide full-text content?
Media Specialist	Is a continually updated and expanding e-reference collection needed in your library?
